TRAVEL IS RESUMED.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Opens a Passage East.

ITS WORN-OUT OFFICIALS.

The Train Dispatchers Have Had the Worst of It-Sightseers Clamor in Valu to Go Farther Than the Train's Run-Relief Corps Sent Out During the Day.

The announcement was made early yesterday afternoon by the Pennsylvania Railroad officials that they had succeeded in making con-

Valley and Philadelphia and Eric.

This will make the trip from here to Philadelphia. delphia somewhat longer than in the usual way, but the company are in hopes that it will not last more than four or five days at most. The following dispatch from Philadelphia states very clearly the manner in which the trains will be run, and the various connections that will be made.

The Detailed Arrangement.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7. The Pennsylvania Railroad is at last able to announce the resumption of the running of through passenger trains from New York via Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Lock Haven and the Allegheny Valley Railroad to Pittsburg. The route is made up as follows: Trains will leave the main line at Harrisburg and proceed on the Northern Central branch to Sunbury. At that place they will be taken across the river in a steam ferryboat, and thence the all-rail route will be by way of Lock Haven, Renovo and Driftwood. At the latter place, the Allegheny Valley Railroad tracks will be taken and thence to Pittsburg. It will be necessary to use this route for at least four days yet, the work of repairing the bridges between Lewistown and Altoona on the middle division and of the breaks west of Altoona being carried on as rapidly as is consistent with perfect safety. The Montgomery bridge, it is expected, will be finished to-morrow and the transfer of passengers by ferry will be done away with, the trains running direct to Pittsburg over the bridge.

Other announcements of the opening up of travel are included in the following bulletin is-Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Lock Haven and the travel are included in the following bulletin issued by General rassenger Agent Wood this afternoon: "The Pennsylvania Raliroad Company announces the resumption of trains on their lines to and from Pittsburg via Sunbury, Driftwood and the Allegheny Valley Railroad as follows:

as follows:

East—Train No. 6, leaving Pittsburg at 7:15 o'clock to-night, and No. 8, leaving Pittsburg at 8 A. M. to-morrow (Saturday) will run through to Philadelphia and New York with eleeping cars on the night trains as far as Sunbury, connecting at Driftwood with trains to and from Erie and at Lock Haven with trains to and from Altoona points on the main line as far east as Hunting points on the main line as far east as Huntingdon and at other points on the Hollidaysburg branch, Bald Eagle Valley Baliroad, Tyrone division of the Clearfield branches.

West—Train No. 3, leaving New York at 8 P.
M. and Philadelphia at 11:25 to-night with sleeping car to Sunbury; and train No. 1, leaving New York at 9 A. M. and Philadelphia at 11:26 A. M. to-morrow (Saturday), will run to Pittsburg via Sunbury and Driftwood with same connections as above for Erie, Altoona, Huntingdon, Hollidaysburg, Bald Eagle Valley Railroad, Tyrone division and Clearfield branches.

All these trains will connect to and from Baltimore and Washington and the South and Cumberland Valley points via Harrisburg.

Keeping Back Sightseers.

Keeping Back Sightseers.

The Pennsylvania Railraod officials are striving to do all in their power to keep the wast army of sightseers away from Johnstown, and have posted very positive notices to the effect that no tickets will be sold to any point east of Bolivar, which is fully 20 miles from east of Bolivar, which is fully 20 miles from Johnstown. This has the effect of dampening the arder of a number of the curious, but in some instances it produces the angriest kind of anger.

Jos. Honne & Co.'s, There was a party of pretty prominent and de-cidedly mad railroad officials from the West. They were provided with annual passes over the Pennsylvania Railroad and were bound for Johnstown and were bound for Johnstown just to see what the place looked like. They were informed that their passes were not good east of Bolivar, and although they expostulated any swore, it accomplished nothing, and they returned to the West without getting to Johnstown. Several people, however, are so intent on going that they buy tickets to Bolivar and walk the balance of the way.

Train Dispatcher Culp has doubtless the hardest time of any of the officials at the depot. Since Friday night a week ago be has slept probably about ten hours in all, and has not taken a single meal at his home. His life is also to him, by the crowds of people who daily be-siege his office inquiring for missing friends. Mr. Culp has no way of ascertaining who has questions, but the people insist in going there. One man on Thursday visited the office nine times during the day, but could not obtain any information.

Word was received yesterday afternoon from Assistant Superintendent Mark Wilson, of the West Penn, to the effect that that road was open from Allegheny to Bolivar, and that two parties of expert bridge builders will push on east of Bolivar and rebuild the bridges as fast as possible.

The constant strain on the railroad officials and employes of the roads running into Johnstown has been almost superhuman. Superintendent Patton, of the nan. Superintendent Patton, of the Baltimore and Ohio, has not left the wreck since first visiting it and is doing everything in his power to help the relief committees and at the same time re-establish traffic. Twelve locomotives and crews have been running since the disaster without a cent from their labors going to the OIL CITY, PA., June 7, 1889. Chief Train Dispatcher Day has not had his and help in sending relief as far as possible.

STILL AMONG THE MISSING.

Not Yet Found.

JOHNSTOWN, June 7.—Delinquent Tax Col-lector Sam Grier, of Allegheny, is here looking the young ladies who were passengers on the day express. The latter is a cousin of Mr. Grier, and they had attended the wedding of his sister. He saw a man who gave his name with the ladies when the conductor issued orders for everyone to leave the car. Mr. Hamilton, instead of running up the mountain, climbed to the top of the coach and sat there in safety while the flood went by. He saw the two young ladies afloat before they had gone 40 feet, and were whirled down the stream.

Their bodies haven't yet been recovered, although a diligent search is being made for them all along the river.

BURIED ALIVE IN THE RUINS.

JOHNSTOWN, June 7.—The devastation at Kernville, opposite Johnstown, is greater than was at first suspected. Yesterday 200 men were sont over to clear away the debris, and to-day son more were engaged. It is not known how many bodies are underneath the ruins, and the number cannot even be estimated. The worknien while removing the debris this afternoon found a wrecked stable, and in one of the stalls was a horse. The animal was alive, and when it was removed pranced around as frisky as any horse that had had a quiet seven days' rest in the stable. The horse is a very valuable

AN INCENDIARY FIRE STOPPED.

LFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.] tary Corps, in charge of Mest and Milk In-spector Lippert, are doing very good work. They have extricated a number of horses and dead anima's from the debris and burned them. This afternoon they captured a barrel of wine and were taking it to headquarters when a gang of hoodlums interfered and tried to take it from them. Detective Murphy and other members of the corps drew their revolvers and drove the crowd back. When they had put the barrel in a place of safety they found the driftwood that surrounded their headquarters was on fire, and the rascals they had driven away had returned and were setting fire to it.

fire to it.

The entire force ran out and drove them away, and it was with difficulty that the fire was extinguished. Detective Murphy found a man stealing clothing from the commissary department and promptly arrested him. The man resisted but was soon put in the custody of the authorities.

LARGER THAN CONEMAUGH LAKE. A Sportsman's Paradise Above Olean That May Sometime Cause Disaster.

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. OLEAN, N. Y., June 7.—The largest body of artificial water in the United States lies 782 feet above Olean. It is liable to give way at any moment. It used to feed the old Genesee canal, but is now used for a sportsman's paracanal, but is now used for a sportsman's para-dise. It has been condemned by public senti-ment and State Superintendent of Canals Shannahan; also by people residing at Cuba, Honesdale. Olean and Alleghany, and the whole Genesee valley, who have protested against the maintenance of the reservoir, as it is a menace to the people and as liable to sweep them into chaos, the same as the Johns-town unfortunates, at any time. town unfortunates, at any time.

A Man Crushed to Denth.

(FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.) JOHNSTOWN, June 7 .- A fatal accident occurred on the Stony Creek road at Minersville, opposite Cambria City, this afternoon. A construction train was clearing and repairing the tracks when several cars were overturned and one of the brakemen, Harry Gennelstelk-er, aged 20 years, was cruthed to death. His body was taken to his home about a square away from the scene of the accident.
